Core Paper- I

BRITISH POETRY AND DRAMA: 14TH TO 17TH CENTURIES

(Credits: Theory-06)

End Sem-80 marks

Mid Sem- 20 marks

Introduction:

The paper seeks to introduce the students to British poetry and drama from the 14th to the 17th century. It helps students sample and explore certain seminal texts from the early modern period, covering the genesis of modern English poetry and the Renaissance that set British poetry and drama on their glorious course to greatness.

UNIT 1: Historical overview

Discipline Specific Elective Paper- IV

DISSERTATION/RESEARCH PROJECT

Introduction and Outcome

A project is an individual or collaborative activity that is carefully planned to achieve a particular aim

An undergraduate project is individual research by students to understand in-depth a particular topic or fact in their field of study, and it. Strengthen their understanding of research processes and methods.

Undergraduate research is inquiry-based learning that involves practical work, and not just listening to classroom teaching and personal reading. Students learn to apply what they study in their courses to appreciate different aspects of their field better by working independently on the projects. At the same time, they contribute something original to the courses they study

An undergraduate research project is expected to explore specific topics within the field of study of the students. The project should make an original contribution to the discipline a manner. The results of quality undergraduate research can be presented in seminars and conferences, and published in research journals dedicated specifically to such work or in traditional academic journals with the student as a co-author.

There are many benefits of undergraduate research including, but not limited to, real world applications, research and professional experience, and better relationships between faculty and students. Relating coursework to out-of-class experiences, students train to work and think independently, take responsibility for their own learning, and take initiative to solve problems on their own rather than relying on experts for answers. They also learn to work in collaboration in interdisciplinary research. Most of all, projects help students learn a variety of skill sets to make them confident and competent in their future career.

The research process

Typically, all research answer three questions: what, why and how.

The what states the research question to be investigated in a project.

The why explains the purpose of the research and also every step undertaken to conduct the research.

The how describes the stages of the research procedure.

To understand the process of research and to practically conduct any requires a good background in research methodology Students may study research methodology before undertaking their projects.

Pattern of examination

Mid-semester assessment

Presentation of the project synopsis
